NO SCRAPPING OF BONUS BILL

Western Senators Lining Up Against the Suggestion.

DILL AND OTHERS AIR VIEWS

Declare They Will Oppose Any Plan of Tax Reduction That Carries With It the Sidetracking of the Soldier Bonus Proposal—Senator Curtis of Kansas Suggests Form of Compromise.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Any attempt to follow up the suggested plan of sidetracking the soldier bonus legislation as a corollary to tax reduction will meet with serious opposition.

This was made evident by several senators lately arriving in Washington fresh from constituencies in various parts of the country.

Senator C. C. Dill of Washington, recently chosen as successor to Miles Poindexter, and Senator Smith Brookhart, the militant progressive from Iowa, both declared they will oppose any plan of tax reduction that carries with it the scrapping of the bonus bill.

Senator Hiram Johnson also declared he is strongly for the bonus measure and that the administration can not now repudiate it. "It is too late now for the responsible leaders of the Republican party to say the bonus bill is economically unsound," the senator said. "The Republican administration stands pledged to the passage of the adjusted compensation act and that pledge must be kept."

Senator Johnson voted for the bonus bill twice. He regards it as a Republican measure, inasmuch as the party of the late President Harding was pledged to enact it. He is strongly in favor of reducing federal taxation, but will oppose any plan to effect reductions by rejecting the bonus bill.

Senator Dill said he had not studied the Mellon plan for tax reduction, but would not agree to having proposed reductions balanced against the bonus measure to the extent of having the latter sacrificed. Senator Brookhart also said he was unfamiliar with the details of the Mellon plan. He stands firmly for the bonus, he said.

A suggested form of compromise which would permit a tax reduction of approximately $200,000,000 a year and still enable the government to meet the demands of the soldier bonus bill was advanced by Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip and member of the finance committee. He proposed that after the $200,000,000 reduction in taxation has been made there should be passed a bill levying a customs duty on luxuries at a rate high enough to bring to the treasury the amount needed to defray costs of the bonus. A tariff bill in this form would be popular, the senator opined, if it were definitely known that its purpose was to raise the fund for payment of the bonus to veterans.

The senator said he had not talked the proposal over with any of his associates on the finance committee, but is of the opinion that a plan of this kind may be worked out, which would satisfy the clamor for tax reduction and at the same time please supporters of the bonus legislation.

TO PRESS TAX CUTS

Nonpartisan, Co-operative Movement Started in Congress.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A nonpartisan, co-operative movement has been started in congress to put through tax reduction legislation along the general lines of the program recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Coincident with the announcement of this plan, it was stated that the Republican leaders have been definitely advised that President Coolidge is going to vigorously commend relief for the taxpayers in his forthcoming message. The president, it was said, has supplied the inspiration for the nonpartisan movement. He will point out in his message that tax cuts affect all the people of all parts of the country, regardless of party, and that such a measure of relief should not be made a party matter. On the basis of this appeal, Republican leaders in the house and senate will seek to form a coalition to agree on a bill and insure its early passage.

Alleged Dope Peddlers Seized.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Three men were arrested and a quantity of morphine seized here by state narcotic officers. The prisoners gave their names as Thelma De Angelo, Thomas Georgess and Margaret Stevens.

MRS. MARIE KAMM

Divorced Wife of California Club Man and Manufacturer.

Mrs. Kamm has announced her engagement to Marchese Ernesto Enrico Gambasio Giustiniani Della Scala, duke of Verona and Prince di Scio.

HUNGER STRIKER DEAD

Irish Republicans Expected to Resume Hostilities.

Dublin, Nov. 21.—It is officially announced that the death of Dennis Barry, hunger striker, will have no effect on the Free State government's policy toward the 300 prisoners in Dublin who are refusing food. It is believed in Dublin that these prisoners will now end their fast and that the republicans will resume hostilities. Barry, whose home was in Cork, died after a hunger strike of 35 days in one of the Free State internment camps. He was the first of the irregular prisoners to succumb to self-imposed starvation.

EXTORTION ALLEGED AGAINST ATTORNEY

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—Herman L. Roth, Hollywood and New York attorney, was indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury on the charge of extortion as a result of a hearing of the charges that the lawyer, by means of a spurious divorce complaint, attempted to blackmail Barbara La Marr, prominent screen actress, out of $20,000. The indictment charges a felony. Roth was arrested last Thursday and after being held incommunicado some time was released on $5,000 bail. He was present in the grand jury room when the indictment was returned.

Authorities charge that Roth plotted to induce Blanche Sweet to file a suit for annulment of her marriage to Marshall Neilan. The district attorney's office holds evidence, it is alleged, in the form of a drawn up complaint against Neilan and which was seized in the lawyer's office. Miss Sweet denied very emphatically she ever had consulted Roth or any other attorney relative to filing a divorce complaint. Her husband just as emphatically joined in the denial.

Miss Sweet said Roth had drawn up the complaint and then had tried to entice her either to sign, or, at least, to discuss filing it. She asserted Roth "pestered" her over the telephone "for months" on the pretext of wanting to discuss "contracts." She admits she finally went to his office, but that Roth was very indefinite in his conversation as to contracts.

TREATED BY QUACK

Wounded War Veteran's Death Investigated by Grand Jury.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 21.—The first indictment for manslaughter, based on the death of a patient treated by a quack doctor, will be returned within the next day or two, it was revealed here. Relatives of the victim, a wounded war veteran, were heard. After his finger had been crushed in a factory he was rushed to the office of a "doctor," a confessed purchaser of a diploma from the Kansas College of Medicine and Surgery. The "doctor," it is said, tied his victim to the operating table and prepared to amputate the finger. More than three cans of ether were administered. When the "doctor" had finished the operation the patient was dead.

CHARGES WASTE IN VETS' BUREAU

Great Mass of Testimony at Committee's Disposal.

O'RYAN ISSUES STATEMENT

Counsel For Probers Says That the Evidence Presented in the Public Hearings Constituted but a Fragment of What Has Been Developed in Relation to Neglect of Disabled Soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Hearings before the senate investigation of the veterans' bureau that began Oct. 22 have practically ended.

At the public session next week it will be announced whether the testimony of Mrs. Katherine Tullidge Mortimer, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, chief accuser of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, shall be made public. Mrs. Mortimer appeared secretly before the committee. Yesterday she appeared publicly before the committee for the first time, with her attorney, Daniel J. Wright. She asked that she be permitted to testify to vindicate publicly her "character and good name."

Chairman Reed replied that the committee had received her statement privately, but would make it public if she desired. He also said the committee would propound publicly such questions as her counsel might prepare and that the committee might regard as relevant. Mrs. Mortimer retired with her counsel to prepare a list of questions to be submitted to the committee.

Through Charles R. Hooff, Washington representatives of a Baltimore bonding company, it was developed that the bid of the Pontiac Construction company of Detroit, successful bidder for the Northampton (Mass.) hospital, had not been received by the veterans' bureau until several hours after the time set for opening bids, and with an intimation that it was not officially received until two days later. This company was one of those named by Mortimer as parties to an alleged conspiracy with Forbes and Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the bureau, to control the hospital contracts. The Pontiac bid was $27,000 higher than the low bidder.

The question over the lease of Camp Kearney at San Diego, Cal., was somewhat cleared up when E. J. Mack, one of the owners of the property, appeared before the committee. Mack testified the committee that the entire $35,000 paid by the government for a two weeks' lease had gone to the owners. William Wolff Smith, present general counsel for the bureau, stated that after this claim had been paid it had been disallowed by the comptroller general's office and charged against the bureau and the bureau was now charging it back against the owners at the rate of $204 a month, the rental price the government is now paying for this property on a second lease. The owners, however, are threatening eviction proceedings against the government.

Major General O'Ryan, counsel for the senate committee, issued the following statement: "What has been presented here in the public hearings constitutes but a fragment of what has been developed, both in relation to neglect of the disabled soldiers and to corruption and waste in the bureau. The committee has at its disposal a mass of testimony, documents, reports, secured from various parts of the country."

Narcotics Seized.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—Federal Narcotic Agent Ralph Oyer and a number of federal narcotic men conducted a raid in Cleveland's "Chinatown," arresting two alleged possessors of opium "layouts" and seizing about $8,000 worth of the drug and equipment. Both prisoners are charged with violation of the Harrison narcotic act.

Driven Out of Business.

Dover, O., Nov. 21.—James Poulos, owner of a restaurant, disposed of his interest and announced he was leaving Dover as a result of a demonstration made in front of his restaurant by three hooded men.

Reward Offered.

Newark, O., Nov. 21.—A reward of $300 was offered by the county commissioners here for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer of John Foster, railway employe, murdered here 10 days ago.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Sheriff Shot to Death.

Caldwell, O., Nov. 21.—Elmer Farra, 28, of Byesville, O., who with George Seibenschuh, 30, also of Byesville, is being held in jail charged with the murder of Sheriff Charles Moore, 51, claims that Seibenschuh fired the shots that killed the sheriff. He said: "We had some liquor in the car. As we were driving along Sheriff Moore jumped on the running board and looked into our car. He saw the whisky. When he attempted our arrest Seibenschuh drew his revolver and fired four times at Moore." Seibenschuh denied having been in Caldwell and said he knew nothing at all about the shooting.

Directors Not Responsible.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Shareholders in the Mt. Gilead Savings and Loan company, Mt. Gilead, O., failed in the supreme court in their effort to hold directors of the institution liable for losses which they sustained as a result of alleged defalcations of F. B. McMillan, secretary of the institution, and because of alleged "mismanagement and negligence" on the part of the directors.

Lone Bandit's Deed.

Dayton, O., Nov. 21.—A lone bandit, wearing a mask, walked into the East End branch of the Dayton Savings and Trust bank here and forced Charles McMullen, the cashier, to scoop $3,500 in currency into a bag. From McMullen's cage the robber went to others and forced the tellers in charge of each to dump the currency before them into the bag. He then made his escape.

Traction Company Sued.

Lancaster, O., Nov. 21.—The Lancaster Traction and Power company, local streetcar company, has been sued for $10,000 by the administrator of the estate of John H. Benz, whose death on March 9 is alleged to have been due to injuries received when his machine was struck by a work car of the company at a crossing near this city.

Dry Agent Stabbed.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 21.—Dr. S. E. Conrad of East Palestine, prohibition agent, has only a "fighting chance" to recover from the stab wound inflicted when he was making a raid here. Dr. Conrad and his assistants, with faces blackened as a disguise, were raiding a place known as Sirbu's market. Six suspects are in jail.

Attempts Suicide in Cell.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—Cosmo Ferranto, sentenced to die in the electric chair Feb. 26, for killing a baby, attempted suicide in the county jail by leaping head foremost from the top bunk in his cell after overpowering a trusty. The fall to the cement floor cut a two-inch gash in the condemned man's head.

Shot Father and Sister.

Woman Slain.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Mary Bucceri was stabbed to death with an ice pick by her husband, Frank, following a quarrel at their home here. Bucceri was arrested on a charge of murder.

SESSION BREAKS UP IN A RIOT

Adjournment of Reichstag Saves Day for Stresemann.

COMMUNISTS START THE ROW

More Than One Hundred Separatists Killed in the Course of Fierce Encounters With Villagers in the Rhineland—Former Alleged to Have Robbed and Maltreated the Inhabitants.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The reichstag reconvened here with the avowed object of the majority parties represented to dig the political grave and overthrow Chancellor Stresemann. It broke up in a riot, precipitated by communist deputies.

Stresemann had asked for a strong detail of police guards armed with rifles for the protection of the reichstag against any kind of a surprise attack. The very presence of the police guard was the cause of the riot on the floor.

Communist Deputy Remmele started the fracas by hurling epithets and insults at President Loebe and, supported by his colleagues, in howls and jeers demanded the withdrawal of the police from within and around the reichstag building. The communists kept up such a tumult that it was impossible for the business of the reichstag to continue, so that President Loebe adjourned the body until tomorrow. Three demands for a vote of lack of confidence against Stresemann are projected by as many parties.

More than 130 separatists have been killed in the course of fierce battles which raged during the past few days between the Rhineland republicans and the defense forces of local citizens and villagers in the wooded districts of the Rhine valley. Most of the fighting occurred in remote districts.

Early last week 4,000 separatists occupied Hones on the Rhine and commenced terrorizing the town and district. They robbed and maltreated the inhabitants, who organized a defense force and opened war on their attackers. They attacked the separatists, bands of local citizens and villagers covering the districts in motor trucks and literally massacring them. The separatist commander was ambushed and shot down in his car. Fired with this success against the separatists at Hones, the villagers in all parts of the mountain districts formed defense forces and set to work systematically to exterminate the separatists.

The separatists dispatched an expedition from Hones. The town defense force took a short cut through the woods, ambushed the republican lorries and slaughtered the occupants, beating 23 to death. The fiercest struggle occurred the day following, when the defense forces killed 70 and captured 50. Many others are believed dying or dead, in the woods. The French have disarmed and expelled the remaining separatists.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The sudden death of Rudolf Havenstein, for fifteen years president of the reichsbank, is attributed by friends to a letter from President Ebert demanding his resignation as the head of Germany's bank of issue. President Ebert sent a letter to Havenstein in which he urged the banker to send in his resignation in view of the unceasing public sentiment and press attacks because of his reichsbank policy, which was partly held responsible for the present financial chaos in Germany. Ebert informed Havenstein that Commissioner of Foreign Exchange Schacht had been selected as his successor. Havenstein who was 66, is said to have become so agitated upon receipt of the letter that it reacted on his heart so that a short time later he was seized with heart cramps and died.

Battling Siki Defeated.

New York, Nov. 21.—Battling Siki, the wild man from Senegal, was reasonably tame at the close of his 15-round fight with Willie Ward of Baltimore, commonly known as Kid Norfolk, at Madison Square Garden. Battling Siki, who also has a regular name, which is Louis Phal, got a bad beating, and lost the decision, along with a good deal of blood. The fight was said to be for the colored light heavyweight championship of the world.

OPPOSE EQUAL RIGHTS

Women's Organizations to Fight Proposed Amendment.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Opposition to the equal rights amendment sponsored by the National Woman's party was announced here by the formation of a women's joint congressional committee, representing 11 women's organizations. Organizations listed as opposed to the proposed constitutional amendments are the General Federation of Women's clubs, the Young Women's Christian association, the American University Women, the Women's Trade Union league, the National League of Women Voters, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Council of Women, the American Economics association, the National Federation of Teachers and the Girls' Friendly society. The adoption of the amendment, it is argued, would be regarded as a step backward for women.

The National Woman's party, headed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, seeks the adoption of the amendment in order to place men and women on a footing of complete legal equality.

Claim of Graham Boosters.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Backers of Representative William J. Graham of Illinois for majority leader issued a statement defining "what is behind the Graham candidacy." The statement says: "The Graham candidacy gives expression in the house to the progressive Republican sentiment or the rank and file, east and west alike. Mr. Graham comes from an agricultural state of the great middle west, and his candidacy represents the feeling that emphasis needs to be put upon agricultural welfare equally with industrial and commercial welfare. The Graham candidacy is based upon the conviction that the combination of Gillett for speaker and Longworth for floor leader (the organization slate) does not give proper balance to the original lines."

Would Bar "Lame Ducks."

Washington, Nov. 21.—A resolution to stop the appointment of more "lame ducks" to highly remunerative government offices will be introduced when congress meets, according to Senator C. C. Dill. He said that among those back of the resolution the opinion prevails that too many good jobs have been given to the "lame ducks" since the present administration began.

Telephone Chief Dead.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Eugene A. Reed, 52, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, died at Grant hospital, where he underwent an operation. He was born in Boston in 1871. Charles P. Cooper will assume the duties of president of the company until a successor to Reed is chosen.

Child Instantly Killed.

Uhrichsville, O., Nov. 21.—Maxine McConnell, 6, was almost instantly killed when she ran in front of a taxicab driven by Harry Hayes of Denison. Hayes was exonerated by the coroner.

Five-Cent Fare.

Canton, O., Nov. 21.—Council passed an ordinance repealing the franchise authorizing 6-cent fare on the city lines of the Northern Ohio Traction company line and substituting 5-cent fare after 30 days.

Arranging Things to Make Home Attractive

Heaven's first law may be met in the placing of the furniture of a room by keeping in mind the simple principle that there must be a dominant note in this just as there is in music. All phases of interior decoration are controlled by this principle. Without its application there is the worst kind of disorder, although we may become so careless with ourselves and so hardened in our sensibilities that we are totally unaware of the jargon we speak every day in our homes.

The piano or the fireplace is usually the dominant note in the furnishing of the living-room. If you have both in a rectangular room the fireplace takes precedence over the piano. If there is an alcove in your room the piano may easily be given the prominence it deserves. With fireplace and piano both in the room it is generally best to place the piano opposite the fireplace if possible. This makes a good balance. In any event both should not be on one side of the room unless it is the inward side. Even there it is not usually quite satisfactory.

The table should be against the wall. It looks well arranged in a group with a picture and a chair. The picture should be of a character that will look well with flowers. This also requires that it be placed high enough to avoid being hidden in part by any decoration that may be placed on the table. By all means have a couch that is comfortable both to sit on and to lie on. It should be so placed that the head receives sufficient light during the day and after sunset for anyone to read without injury to his eyes.

Each easy chair should also be placed with reference to good light, mostly in relation to artificial light, since sufficient evening light is not so apt to be so widespread as is daylight. Although reading-chairs may in many cases be well arranged in relation to wall lights, and to the perfect satisfaction of the reader, nothing is quite so good as a floor or table lamp. The light from such sources is not only usually better, but it may be moved to suit one's convenience, and in addition is very artistic, and therefore gives a very pleasing effect in a room. The easy chair and floor-lamp group is still further increased in convenience if a small table is added to it. Frequently an "end" table is the best.

Youth Is Emphasized in Kiddies' Garments

Just because their years are few in number let no one for a moment suppose that our youngest members of society do not take a very definite stand in the matter of clothes. And she is indeed a clever mother who adroitly manages to dress her small daughter with good taste and appropriateness and apparently gives in to the likes and dislikes of a determined small person of the feminine gender.

Happily the rule of simplicity is the one to follow in choosing children's clothes. But for all their extreme simplicity it is really amazing how very varied and very individual are the modes for the modern child.

In the first place there is the matter of color. Every shade that appears in grown-up costumes is also used for diminutive frocks and coats, but even the most intense shades are so cleverly handled that youth is emphasized.

The New Circular Frill.

It would be interesting to know the feminine reaction to the strange circular frill appearing around the bottom of the new skirt. At any rate it has been eagerly pounced upon by the most extravagant dresses on the screen.

Cannot Oust It.

Nothing can oust the overblouse, which, in many cases, is the making or marring of a three-piece suit. At present the overblouse is beaded, preferably with steel beads.

Bricks cemented together with dried petroleum have curiously enough, been found in large quantities in Nineveh and Babylon. ESKIMOS HAVE STRANGE LAWS

Hunters Must Divide Their Game With Others—Relative Kills Condemned Man.

Detroit, Mich.—The strange and democratic laws of the Far North where the Eskimos are ruled by a code of ethics all their own and where the hunter cannot claim the game he kills but must share it with his fellows, were discussed recently by Roy L. Snell, the Arctic explorer who is spending two weeks here, addressing Detroit school children.

"The Eskimo had many strange laws before the white man came," Mr. Snell said. "They were communists. If you killed a bearded seal, walrus or polar bear, the meat did not all belong to you. You were obliged, as soon as the killing was accomplished, to stand up and wave your hands while you shouted as loud as you could.

Kill Man With Whale Gun.

"All those who answered your call were entitled to a supply of the meat and it very often happened that the successful hunter got less than some of the others. If you neglected to do this and hid the meat away you were likely to be overtaken with some calamity. You might suddenly become blind, it was thought, or your children might die.

"The Eskimos killed the first white man who had my job; shot him with a whale gun. Three young men did it. One man set the gun in place, another marked a spot on the door, then knocked, and the third pulled the trigger. Since the whale gun is as large as a small cannon, my predecessor was instantly killed.

Relative Must Kill.

"The Eskimos themselves captured two of the young men and executed them. When the United States revenue cutter arrived she sent a shell or two over on the beach to let the Eskimos know what could be done, then told them to go and get the other young man.

"When he was found, it was learned, he too was condemned to die. And just here comes one of the Eskimo's strange customs. If a man must die he must be killed by one of his nearest relatives. A young man by the name of Teragloona was appointed executioner. Teragloona was a cousin of the condemned man and one of his best friends.

"He asked his cousin whether he could prefer to be shot or stabbed. The cousin said shot, so aiming at his temple, Teragloona fired. Talk about iron nerve; surely Teragloona had it. I afterward came to know him very well, he was one of the finest Eskimos in my village."

Carries Secret of DyeFormula to Grave

London.—A secret formula for making dye by a method which is said to have required but a fraction of the usual cost has been carried to the grave by a London pauper. The pauper, Robert Culver, learned the secret from a German relative many years ago and brought it to England, where he organized a company for manufacturing dyes.

The company, however, failed through the dishonesty of some of the officials and Culver was reduced to poverty. He continued to live in the hopes that better fortune would one day come his way and that he would be able again to manufacture the dye. He was ill last winter and taken to a workhouse, where he died recently without telling anyone of the secret process.

At the time of the war his German relatives died or were killed and this left him in sole possession of the formula.

Door Shut on Woman'sFoot Causes Her Death

Rome, Ga.—Mrs. Lulu Crisler, twenty-four, of Cedar Bluff, Ala., died at a local hospital as the result of an injury sustained when her two-year-old daughter shut a door on her foot.

There was nothing at the time of the accident to attract especial attention to the hurt Mrs. Crisler sustained, which was not especially painful. The place refused to heal, however, and became painful. She was brought here for treatment and it was learned that blood poisoning had set in. The infection had progressed too far at that time for medical science to check it and Mrs. Crisler died after more than a week of intense suffering.

Two Girl TaxicabThugs are Arrested

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Two young women, who admitted doing a profitable business luring men into taxicabs operated by male accomplices, after which the dupes were beaten and robbed, were held without bail for further investigation. The two girls, Winnie McLaughlin, twenty-three, and Ruby Morgan, twenty-two, were arrested along with four alleged accomplices who gave their names as James McAndrews, Cleveland; Irwin Cohen, Youngstown; Michael Kelp and Charles Wineberg, both of Pittsburgh.

CHRISTMAS TREE

Everybody Asked to Help Make the Youngsters Happy.

None in the community has forgotten the community Christmas tree of last year. It has left its impress on the community. Already plans are under way for a similar celebration this year and the committee expects that with the hearty cooperation that was found last year it will be possible to continue our Christmas tradition this year. Already various organizations are cooperating, the tree, the lighting the hauling, the decoration all being looked after now. It remains for the others of us in the community to provide the oranges, candy, nuts, dolls, and toys necessary to make every child happy. It will not take a large sum; it will take only good will. The headquarters for receiving these things, especially the toys, have been located at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and at Fickard's drug store.

Look up your toys. If you have some that have served their usefulness to you pass them on to another. If you are not so fortunate as to have a toy in the house go and have the pleasure of getting one for some child that will look forward to this season as the great event of the year. In addition to the two headquarters in the center of town there will be placed in each grocery of the outlying districts of town a Christmas tree jar to receive contributions of whatever size. We want even the children to have a part in making the celebration possible. It is a community affair. Let everyone help make it a success.

Charles Hall, who recently underwent an operation at Mt. Carmel hospital Columbus, for the removal of stones from his bladder, is reported much better.

Harvey S. Heffner, who sustained a broken knee cap nearly a month ago in an auto accident near Columbus is getting along nicely at Mt. Carmel hospital. The broken bone is beginning to knit and Mr. Heffner is now able to sit up in bed.

VIENNESE ARTIST SWAMPED BY BEAUTIES IN NEW YORK

New York.—Ernest Linnenkamp, Viennese artist, whose quest in this country is the 15 most beautiful women, whose pictures he will paint for the Amalthea Verlag of Zurich and Vienna, said recently that beauty hunting was a nerve-wrecking undertaking.

Herr Linnenkamp has been overwhelmed with applications. To date at least 1,500 women in this city believe they are among America's 15 fairest. Society women, actresses, professional models, shop girls, home girls and waitresses are among those who have sought Herr Linnenkamp out in his New York hotel.

"I have been quite amused," said Herr Linnenkamp. "Many of the lovely creatures who have been in touch with me thought I was here on some advertising scheme or publicity stunt. My quest is perfectly serious. I have a definite job to execute for this Swiss house while I am in this country, and I am not going to put brush to canvas until I am reasonably convinced that my selections are incomparable.

"Up to the moment I have made a preliminary selection of five. Whether these five will 'last the course' I cannot say. I am seeing thirty to forty beauties a day, and it is a delicate task to pick the winners. Comparisons are odious especially when applied to the fairer sex.

"I do not want to announce any names before the fifteen are complete. I am constantly in touch with leading theatrical men, but though I said I thought I would find the majority of my beauties in New York theatrical circles, I am not quite so sanguine now.

"One of the troubles, strange as it may seem, with New York women is that they dress too well. You see a woman in a morning gown. She has then a distinct type of beauty. She changes for lunch. She is a different woman. Her afternoon creation makes her another woman. For evening wear she has another robe, her hair is differently coiffured, and she is again another charming but equally varied personality. How can I choose fifteen of the loveliest under these conditions when nearly every woman has four different appearances daily?"

Frau Linnenkamp, who is considered one of the most beautiful women in central Europe, refuses to assist her husband to make his selections. "He brought all this trouble on himself," she said laughingly. "Let him fight it out himself."

Indian Goddess "Cures Sickness and Disease"

Indian Goddess "Cures Sickness and Disease"

Here is shown the Goddess Kali, supposed to be the most powerful Indian goddess—able to cure sickness and disease. Until stopped by the British government human sacrifices were daily occurrences. For this purpose a special small temple was erected in the outskirts of Madras. In the temple there are figures in the shape of men, women and children, representing the now forbidden sacrifices.

Bandits Take Tombstone Weighing Over Half Ton

Winchester, Va.—The wave of banditry that has had the local police force guessing for the last two weeks seemed to have reached its climax when Funk & Son reported to the police the theft of a large tombstone at their place of business, almost within the shadow of the entrance of Mount Hebron cemetery.

The tombstone had been sold to a customer in Frederick county, and had been handsomely carved and lettered. When employees went to the show-rooms to get the stone it could not be found. The stone weighed more than half a ton.

Lizards Victims of Curiosity.

Little boys of the Orient often capture lizards by entering to their curiosity. When one of them spies a lizard that has scurried into a crevice he makes a slipknot of colored straw and holds it before the hole. After a time he is rewarded by seeing the tiny creature coming out to examine the curious thing before its den and later it actually puts its head into the noose, which is quickly drawn together by the watchful boy.

Fitting a Bear With New Teeth.

A grizzly bear may wear out his teeth, just the same as a human being. When he needs new ones he gets them, particularly in America. More animal dentistry has been done here than in any other country. Once, when an old pet bear belonging to the owner of a well-known menagerie was fitted with a complete set of false teeth, it was necessary to glue the plates to the bear's mouth to keep them in place.

HARTMAN THEATER

"The World's greatest show; Bigger and Brighter than ever," was a slogan adopted and made famous by America's greatest tent showman. It is one that can be truthfully and justly taken over by Wagenhals & Kemper for their production of "The Bat" which they present the week of November 19, at the Hartman theater, Columbus.

"The Bat" has earned the title of the world's greatest show by smashing every known record for a dramatic production on four continents and in seven different countries. It has been played with equal success in eleven languages and has delighted one president, two kings and five queens, along with plenty of other royalty mixed in with 9,000,000 persons who have seen this Mary Roberts Rhinehart and Avery Hopwood masterpiece to date, with no signs of the play's popularity diminishing. It is "bigger" than ever because since it played over two years in New York, a year each in London and Chicago and a season each in Boston and Philadelphia, "The Bat" has shattered over 3,000 other records thruout the United States and Canada. It is "better" than ever for Wagenhals & Kemper are sending a special cast for this engagement. The cast coming to the Hartman is the one that will play New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston later this season for return engagement. It is "brighter" for the simple reason that a brand new production has been provided in view of metropolitan return engagements.

The cast includes five of the members of famous special "Big Cities" company with five other augmentations. The old members are Julia Stuart, Ursula Ellsworth, Charles Gott hold, Robert Ranous, Albert Lawrence Harold Heaton and Ben H. Roberts. This is now the most important organization dispensing the laughs, thrills and sensational mystery now made historic in the theater by "The Bat." One of the most astonishing features of the play's record is the popularity of this hit this present season. It seems to be increasing, rather than diminishing as was anticipated by the producers. In several instances "The Bat" has broken its own previous high records this season on return presentations; and in almost every instance has equalled the high marks set the first and second engagements played in various cities. In view of the productions from theatrical wisecracks that a mystery play could not survive a single year, this is even more amazing. "The Bat" has already piled up more profits and royalty than was ever dreamed of for one play prior to its appearance. And now it seems to have only begun an everlasting career. That its merit as an entertainment is unbounded is indicated by the delight with which it is viewed a second or third time. "Repeat" members of the jammed theaters are the most enthusiastic units of the record audiences.

Watch for Eelworm Damage to Alfalfa

Farmers Are Urged to Observe Fields and Eradicate Pest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Alfalfa growers in America are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to watch their fields of alfalfa for the appearance of "sick spots" which may be caused by the presence of a parasitic eelworm and to take prompt and aggressive measures for eradicating the pest whenever found. The eelworm disease is caused by the alfalfa stem nematode which is proving to be an extremely dangerous pest. The disease is manifested by a thinning out of the alfalfa in spots in the field, due to the dying of some of the plants. This leaves a poor stand of alfalfa, with a reduced number of stems, some of which may be more or less yellowed and distorted. A close examination shows that the disease is localized in the crown of the plant. Stems are swollen at the base and brown in color. They are often brittle and easily broken off; in fact, this brittleness is one of the means of easy diagnosis.

Examining "Sick Spots."

When examining a "sick spot" in a field for the possible presence of the disease, one should take into consideration more than one of the symptoms listed, say department workers. A thin spot may be caused by a variety of other factors, such as a poor initial stand, too little or much water, the presence of alkali in the soil, or to some other disease. The surest symptoms by which the eelworm disease may be recognized are the swollen buds and sprouts and the enlarged browned stems already mentioned. Badly diseased plants show a distinct rotting of the stem bases and crown, with some or all of the stems completely killed.

The disease has not been located in America in a great many places as yet and it has not been under observation for a long enough time to determine just how damaging it might be in this country. But in view of the fact that it causes serious losses in all other countries where it occurs and because it is very readily spread, the department is anxious that all places of infestation be located as soon as possible and methods of eradication put into effect. Specimens of suspected material should be sent in promptly to the department at Washington for identification, together with an account of the extent to which the disease occurs.

Prevent Spread of Disease.

Because the disease is easily spread by irrigation water, infested hay, farm implements, wind, and birds, it follows that the wise practice is to prevent it becoming established. Eradication can be brought about by plowing up the alfalfa fields and putting the land in other crops for three years. A further reason for prompt action against the disease is that it may under favorable conditions pass over to and affect other crops, such as clover, buckwheat, rye, turnips, and even potatoes.

Bran and High Protein Feeds Quite Expensive

Bran and high protein feeds are so relatively expensive that the dairyman who mixes his own ration will do well to make full use of corn, oats and barley, say the feeding specialists at the New York state agricultural college at Ithaca in suggesting a good dairy ration for the fall season.

As reasonable a mixture as can be made, they say, will consist of 500 pounds of corn and oats ground together, 300 pounds of oil meal and 200 pounds of gluten feed.

"If there ever was a time when the value of alfalfa hay shows up it is this fall," say the men at the college who are studying the situation. "Alfalfa in the roughage will make it possible to use 70 per cent of feeds like corn, oats, barley and wheat in the ration."

"Many letters have come in on the feeding of wheat. Wheat is very valuable in feeding. We are not used to it, that is all. It is like corn and should be ground and used like corn. It is practically as valuable, pound for pound, as corn."

"Do not use so much as to make the mixture too sticky when wet. Fifteen per cent is usually the limit, though perhaps 20 may be used."

Suckers on Apple Trees

Not Good for Grafting

Suckers on apple trees are not suitable for grafting purposes, as they are not usually well enough matured. Woods for grafting should be well matured; that is, they should have a good deal of food material stored in their growth and in stable forms, and should also be cut when this food is in a dormant condition. The suckers are usually tender wood and inclined to be "sappy." Roots of the proper size may be taken off old trees when in a dormant condition and be used for winter or dormant grafting.

Wilt Disease of Tomato

Is Now Serious Menace

The wilt disease of tomato is becoming a serious menace to tomato production. This disease is partially spread by diseased vines. All tomato vines should be burned. Do not plant tomatoes in the same field the following year, since the disease carries over in the soil.

AMUSEMENTS

Greenwich Village! The magic name of Washington Square, America's Quater Latin, has been the magnet which has attracted many persons to Manhattan, rather than the more general lure of the big city and the White Way. Especially have those with artistic yearnings been drawn like moths to the "yellow lamps" of the Village.

What is probably the most effective picture starring Gloria Swanson—a presentation of life about the Square in "Prodigal Daughters" a Paramount Sam Wood production, which will be the feature at the Met theater for two days beginning today.

It is here that "Swiftie" Forbes, otherwise, Miss Swanson, seeks the realization of the freedom for her sex that she demands and finds harder to exact from her father. With her she takes her sister, Marjory, played by Vera Reynolds, but the latter gets married and thereby quite upsets the conventions of the villagers—or that particular portion of them which regards the marriage tie as a bond indeed.

Her studio is a marvel of realism and picturesqueness. Unique mottoes adorn the walls. There are queer cubistic things, everywhere seems to be grotesquely shaped. The villagers are all young, smocks and corduroys and flowing ties, bobbed hair, of the Simple Simon variety; long haired men and short haired women—predominating.

INSURANCE PAID.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

STATE LECTURER

Mrs. Mamie Ensign Visited Many Places in Pickaway County.

Mrs. Mamie T. Ensign, state lecturer for the scientific temperance institution department of the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union has spent the past ten days in visiting most of the schools in this county. Receptions for the teachers were held in her honor in the following places, Derby, Darbyville, New Holland, Circleville and Ashville. Her messages to the schools and the teachers were well received and much good will result from her visit. Mrs. Ensign also gave an address in the United Brethren church in Circleville on Sunday evening.

One phase of the work of this scientific temperance instruction department is the writing of essays on subjects pertaining to alcohol and tobacco which will be made a part of the English work of the schools of the county and the W. C. T. U. will furnish prizes for best essays written on these subjects. The national prize is $20; state prize $10 for high schools; there is also a county prize for high schools. The national prize for college contest is $100; state prize is $40. The essays shall be graded on clearness of thought, accuracy of statement and originality of presentation.

Scientific temperance instruction in the public schools has been one of the important factors in creating the public sentiment that brought national prohibition. Its function now is to continue steadily to build this sentiment in this generation now in the schools which must carry America safely thru to assured permanent prohibition. The children must be taught that alcohol is present in beer, wine and home brew that habit forming drugs are dangerous and that alcohol wherever found is a poison. They must be so taught that they will intelligently choose to be abstainers.

While in Circleville she was entertained in the home of Mrs. S. W. Dunlap, on South Court street.

KING'S ESCAPADES CAUSE MUCH TALK

Paris.—Europe is looking for Spain to get rid of its king at any moment, or if not that, it is almost certain that King Alphonso will get a good spanking before long—figuratively speaking. King Alphonso is treading the path once familiar to King Manuel, of Portugal, who showered good coin of the realm on stage beauties, so much of it in fact that his subjects rebelled and Manuel woke up one morning to find himself without a throne to sit on and a crown to put on his head.

That's the way King Alphonso, the Spanish monarch, is going, only he has gone Manuel about five or six better. Instead of having only one stage beauty, Alphonso has about five or six at a time.

Queen With Babes.

Meantime his wife, Queen Victoria, and the six children stay in the royal palace in Madrid wondering when the errant king is coming home.

All Europe is talking about the royal scandal, the way in which Alphonso is behaving himself. The comic papers of France ridicule and roast him. It is in France that Alphonso spends most of his time, at the fashionable seashore resort, Deauville. The reason he spends so much of his time there is because all the noted stage beauties, chorus girls, and a lot of women, whose respectability is not a matter of overmuch concern to them, congregate at Deauville.

Squanders His Money.

There's hardly a good king in the whole European lot any more, but Alphonso is absolutely the worst one they still keep over here. Instead of attending to affairs of state he squanders his coin in gambling parties and drinking bouts at Deauville; he plays tennis with the chorus girls, or rather plays at it; he referees prize fights; he judges beauty contests, and in a word, behaves himself just exactly like a king ought not to behave.

The taxpayers of Spain are beginning to growl about it. When their monarch gives a diamond brooch to one of his favorite stage beauties—the taxpayers of his country foot the bill. Besides they are getting pretty much ashamed of Alphonso.

Rivera May Take a Hand.

When the army of Spain revolted several weeks ago and Primo Rivera, their leader, was given virtual rulership of the country, Alphonso hurried to Madrid from the seashore, saw that Rivera was a good man to have charge of affairs, and then he went back to spend some more of the taxpayers' money.

It is said in Europe that Rivera is soon going to call the king to Madrid for a heart-to-heart talk. Furthermore it is said that by the time Rivera gets through with the king, the king will behave himself—for a few weeks, at least.

High Taxation Sends Art Treasures to U. S.

London.—Art collectors from America have sent more treasures to America since the war than were purchased by Americans during the 20 years previous to 1914.

English collectors explain that this is the result of the need for cash which is being acutely felt in England. Many formerly wealthy art collectors are forced to sell their possessions in order to meet high taxation and living costs. There seems to be no such condition among the American collectors, for their English agents are everywhere and always ready to seize upon any treasures that are for sale. In fact, so anxious are some of the agents to buy that they have adopted the method of calling on well-known collectors and making them offers for various objects.

Art objects to the value of $10,000,000 were shipped to the United States last year.

Man Is Shot to Death in Quarrel Over $4.50

Marshall, N. C.—W. T. Henderson, sixty, a country merchant living at Big Pine, in Madison county, was shot and killed and Ki Baker, forty-five, is being held in jail here on a charge of murder. The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel over $4.50, which Baker claimed Henderson owed him. Baker went to Henderson's home and confronted Henderson. The quarrel ensued and Baker is said to have drawn his pistol, firing four shots at Henderson. One took effect in the head, the others in the body.

GERMAN POSTAGE

A letter was received at the local postoffice recently from Germany, which carried 280,000,000 marks. The letter was registered and bore five stamps of the following denominations; one two hundred million, one fifty million and three ten million mark stamps. The whole two hundred and eighty million marks was equivalent to fifteen cents in United States coin. Before the World war the value of a mark was twenty cents in our money. Inflation did it. The land of the kaiser has no credit and no security now.

NO SCRAPPING OF BONUS BILL

Western Senators Lining Up Against the Suggestion.

DILL AND OTHERS AIR VIEWS

Declare They Will Oppose Any Plan of Tax Reduction That Carries With It the Sidetracking of the Soldier Bonus Proposal—Senator Curtis of Kansas Suggests Form of Compromise.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Any attempt to follow up the suggested plan of sidetracking the soldier bonus legislation as a corollary to tax reduction will meet with serious opposition.

This was made evident by several senators lately arriving in Washington fresh from constituencies in various parts of the country.

Senator C. C. Dill of Washington, recently chosen as successor to Miles Poindexter, and Senator Smith Brookhart, the militant progressive from Iowa, both declared they will oppose any plan of tax reduction that carries with it the scrapping of the bonus bill.

Senator Hiram Johnson also declared he is strongly for the bonus measure and that the administration can not now repudiate it. "It is too late now for the responsible leaders of the Republican party to say the bonus bill is economically unsound," the senator said. "The Republican administration stands pledged to the passage of the adjusted compensation act and that pledge must be kept."

Senator Johnson voted for the bonus bill twice. He regards it as a Republican measure, inasmuch as the party of the late President Harding was pledged to enact it. He is strongly in favor of reducing federal taxation, but will oppose any plan to effect reductions by rejecting the bonus bill.

Senator Dill said he had not studied the Mellon plan for tax reduction, but would not agree to having proposed reductions balanced against the bonus measure to the extent of having the latter sacrificed. Senator Brookhart also said he was unfamiliar with the details of the Mellon plan. He stands firmly for the bonus, he said.

A suggested form of compromise which would permit a tax reduction of approximately $200,000,000 a year and still enable the government to meet the demands of the soldier bonus bill was advanced by Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip and member of the finance committee. He proposed that after the $200,000,000 reduction in taxation has been made there should be passed a bill levying a customs duty on luxuries at a rate high enough to bring to the treasury the amount needed to defray costs of the bonus. A tariff bill in this form would be popular, the senator opined, if it were definitely known that its purpose was to raise the fund for payment of the bonus to veterans.

The senator said he had not talked the proposal over with any of his associates on the finance committee, but is of the opinion that a plan of this kind may be worked out, which would satisfy the clamor for tax reduction and at the same time please supporters of the bonus legislation.

TO PRESS TAX CUTS

Nonpartisan, Co-operative Movement Started in Congress.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A nonpartisan, co-operative movement has been started in congress to put through tax reduction legislation along the general lines of the program recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Coincident with the announcement of this plan, it was stated that the Republican leaders have been definitely advised that President Coolidge is going to vigorously commend relief for the taxpayers in his forthcoming message. The president, it was said, has supplied the inspiration for the nonpartisan movement. He will point out in his message that tax cuts affect all the people of all parts of the country, regardless of party, and that such a measure of relief should not be made a party matter. On the basis of this appeal, Republican leaders in the house and senate will seek to form a coalition to agree on a bill and insure its early passage.

HUNGER STRIKER DEAD

Irish Republicans Expected to Resume Hostilities.

Dublin, Nov. 21.—It is officially announced that the death of Dennis Barry, hunger striker, will have no effect on the Free State government's policy toward the 300 prisoners in Dublin who are refusing food. It is believed in Dublin that these prisoners will now end their fast and that the republicans will resume hostilities. Barry, whose home was in Cork, died after a hunger strike of 35 days in one of the Free State internment camps. He was the first of the irregular prisoners to succumb to self-imposed starvation.

EXTORTION ALLEGED AGAINST ATTORNEY

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—Herman L. Roth, Hollywood and New York attorney, was indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury on the charge of extortion as a result of a hearing of the charges that the lawyer, by means of a spurious divorce complaint, attempted to blackmail Barbara La Marr, prominent screen actress, out of $20,000. The indictment charges a felony. Roth was arrested last Thursday and after being held incommunicado some time was released on $5,000 bail. He was present in the grand jury room when the indictment was returned.

Authorities charge that Roth plotted to induce Blanche Sweet to file a suit for annulment of her marriage to Marshall Neilan. The district attorney's office holds evidence, it is alleged, in the form of a drawn up complaint against Neilan and which was seized in the lawyer's office.

Miss Sweet denied very emphatically she ever had consulted Roth or any other attorney relative to filing a divorce complaint. Her husband just as emphatically joined in the denial.

Miss Sweet said Roth had drawn up the complaint and then had tried to entice her either to sign, or, at least, to discuss filing it. She asserted Roth "pestered" her over the telephone "for months" on the pretext of wanting to discuss "contracts." She admits she finally went to his office, but that Roth was very indefinite in his conversation as to contracts.

TREATED BY QUACK

Wounded War Veteran's Death Investigated by Grand Jury.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 21.—The first indictment for manslaughter, based on the death of a patient treated by a quack doctor, will be returned within the next day or two, it was revealed here. Relatives of the victim, a wounded war veteran, were heard. After his finger had been crushed in a factory he was rushed to the office of a "doctor," a confessed purchaser of a diploma from the Kansas College of Medicine and Surgery. The "doctor," it is said, tied his victim to the operating table and prepared to amputate the finger. More than three cans of ether were administered. When the "doctor" had finished the operation the patient was dead.

CHARGES WASTE IN VETS' BUREAU

Great Mass of Testimony at Committee's Disposal.

O'RYAN ISSUES STATEMENT

Counsel For Probers Says That the Evidence Presented in the Public Hearings Constituted but a Fragment of What Has Been Developed in Relation to Neglect of Disabled Soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Hearings before the senate investigation of the veterans' bureau that began Oct. 22 have practically ended.

At the public session next week it will be announced whether the testimony of Mrs. Katherine Tullidge Mortimer, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, chief accuser of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, shall be made public. Mrs. Mortimer appeared secretly before the committee. Yesterday she appeared publicly before the committee for the first time, with her attorney, Daniel J. Wright. She asked that she be permitted to testify to vindicate publicly her "character and good name."

Chairman Reed replied that the committee had received her statement privately, but would make it public if she desired. He also said the committee would propound publicly such questions as her counsel might prepare and that the committee might regard as relevant. Mrs. Mortimer retired with her counsel to prepare a list of questions to be submitted to the committee.

Through Charles R. Hooff, Washington representatives of a Baltimore bonding company, it was developed that the bid of the Pontiac Construction company of Detroit, successful bidder for the Northampton (Mass.) hospital, had not been received by the veterans' bureau until several hours after the time set for opening bids, and with an intimation that it was not officially received until two days later. This company was one of those named by Mortimer as parties to an alleged conspiracy with Forbes and Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the bureau, to control the hospital contracts. The Pontiac bid was $27,000 higher than the low bidder.

The question over the lease of Camp Kearney at San Diego, Cal., was somewhat cleared up when E. J. Mack, one of the owners of the property, appeared before the committee. Mack satisfied the committee that the entire $35,000 paid by the government for a two weeks' lease had gone to the owners. William Wolff Smith, present general counsel for the bureau, stated that after this claim had been paid it had been disallowed by the comptroller general's office and charged against the bureau and the bureau was now charging it back against the owners at the rate of $204 a month, the rental price the government is now paying for this property on a second lease. The owners, however, are threatening eviction proceedings against the government.

Major General O'Ryan, counsel for the senate committee, issued the following statement: "What has been presented here in the public hearings constitutes but a fragment of what has been developed, both in relation to neglect of the disabled soldiers and to corruption and waste in the bureau. The committee has at its disposal a mass of testimony, documents, reports, secured from various sources."

Narcotics Seized.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—Federal Narcotic Agent Ralph Oyler and a number of federal narcotic men conducted a raid in Cleveland's "Chinatown," arresting two alleged possessors of opium "layouts" and seizing about $8,000 worth of the drug and equipment. Both prisoners are charged with violation of the Harrison narcotic act.

Caldwell, O., Nov. 21.—Elmer Farra, 28, of Byesville, O., who with George Seibenschuh, 30, also of Byesville, is being held in jail charged with the murder of Sheriff Charles Moore, 51, claims that Seibenschuh fired the shots that killed the sheriff. He said: "We had some liquor in the car. As we were driving along Sheriff Moore jumped on the running board and looked into our car. He saw the whiskey. When he attempted our arrest Seibenschuh drew his revolver and fired four times at Moore." Seibenschuh denied having been in Caldwell and said he knew nothing at all about the shooting.

Directors Not Responsible.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Shareholders in the Mt. Gilead Savings and Loan company, Mt. Gilead, O., failed in the supreme court in their effort to hold directors of the institution liable for losses which they sustained as a result of alleged defalcations of F. B. McMillan, secretary of the institution, and because of alleged "mismanagement and negligence" on the part of the directors.

Lone Bandit's Deed.

Dayton, O., Nov. 21.—A lone bandit, wearing a mask, walked into the East End branch of the Dayton Savings and Trust bank here and forced Charles McMullen, the cashier, to scoop $3,500 in currency into a bag. From McMullen's cage the robber went to others and forced the tellers in charge of each to dump the currency before them into the bag. He then made his escape.

Traction Company Sued.

Lancaster, O., Nov. 21.—The Lancaster Traction and Power company, local streetcar company, has been sued for $10,000 by the administrator of the estate of John H. Dry Agent Stabbed.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 21.—Dr. S. E. Conrad of East Palestine, prohibition agent, has only a "fighting chance" to recover from the stab wound inflicted when he was making a raid here. Dr. Conrad and his assistants, with faces blackened as a disguise, were raiding a place known as Sirbu's market. Six suspects are in jail.

Attempts Suicide in Cell.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—Cosmo Ferranto, sentenced to die in the electric chair Feb. 26, for killing a baby, attempted suicide in the county jail by leaping head foremost from the top bunk in his cell after overpowering a trusty. SESSION BREAKS UP IN A RIOT

Adjournment of Reichstag Saves Day for Stresemann.

COMMUNISTS START THE ROW

More Than One Hundred Separatists Killed in the Course of Fierce Encounters With Villagers in the Rhineland—Former Alleged to Have Robbed and Maltreated the Inhabitants.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The reichstag reconvened here with the avowed object of the majority parties represented to dig the political grave and overthrow Chancellor Stresemann. It broke up in a riot, precipitated by communist deputies.

Stresemann had asked for a strong detail of police guards armed with rifles for the protection of the reichstag against any kind of a surprise attack. The very presence of the police guard was the cause of the riot on the floor.

Communist Deputy Remmele started the fracas by hurling epithets and insults at President Loeb and, supported by his colleagues, in howls and jeers demanded the withdrawal of the police from within and around the reichstag building. The communists kept up such a tumult that it was impossible for the business of the reichstag to continue, so that President Loeb adjourned the body until tomorrow. Three demands for a vote of lack of confidence against Stresemann are projected by as many parties.

More than 130 separatists have been killed in the course of fierce battles which raged during the past few days between the Rhineland republicans and the defense forces of local citizens and villagers in the wooded districts of the Rhine valley. Most of the fighting occurred in remote districts.

Early last week 4,000 separatists occupied Hones on the Rhine and commenced terrorizing the town and district. They robbed and maltreated the inhabitants, who organized a defense force and opened war on their attackers. They attacked the separatists, bands of the separatist organization covering the districts in motor trucks and literally massacring them. The separatist commander was ambushed and shot down in his car. Fired with this success against the separatists at Hones, the villagers in all parts of the mountain districts formed defense forces and set to work systematically to exterminate the separatists.

The separatists dispatched an expedition from Hones. The town defense force took a short cut through the woods, ambushed the republican lorries and slaughtered the occupants, beating 23 to death. The fiercest struggle occurred the day following, when the defense forces killed 70 and captured 50. Many others are believed dying or dead, in the woods. The French have disarmed and expelled the remaining separatists.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The sudden death of Rudolf Havenstein, for fifteen years president of the reichsbank, is attributed by friends to a letter from President Ebert demanding his resignation as the head of Germany's bank of issue. President Ebert sent a letter to Havenstein in which he urged the banker to send in his resignation in view of the unceasing public sentiment and press attacks because of his reichsbank policy, which was partly held responsible for the present financial chaos in Germany. Ebert informed Havenstein that Commissioner of Foreign Exchange Schacht had been selected as his successor. Havenstein who was 66, is said to have become so agitated upon receipt of the letter that it reacted on his heart so that a short time later he was seized with heart cramps and died.

Battling Siki Defeated.

New York, Nov. 21.—Battling Siki, the wild man from Senegal, was reasonably tame at the close of his 15-round fight with Willie Ward of Baltimore, commonly known as Kid Norfolk, at Madison Square Garden. Battling Siki, who also has a regular name, which is Louis Phal, got a bad beating, and lost the decision, along with a good deal of blood. The fight was said to be for the colored light heavyweight championship of the world.

OPPOSE EQUAL RIGHTS

Women's Organizations to Fight Proposed Amendment.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Opposition to the equal rights amendment sponsored by the National Woman's party was announced here by the formation of a women's joint congressional committee, representing 11 women's organizations. Organizations listed as opposed to the proposed constitutional amendments are the General Federation of Women's clubs, the Young Women's Christian association, the American University Women, the Women's Trade Union league, the National League of Women Voters, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Council of Women, the American Economics association, the National Federation of Teachers and the Girls' Friendly society. The adoption of the amendment, it is argued, would be regarded as a step backward for women.

The National Woman's party, headed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, seeks the adoption of the amendment in order to place men and women on a footing of complete legal equality.

Claim of Graham Boosters.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Backers of Representative William J. Graham of Illinois for majority leader issued a statement defining "what is behind the Graham candidacy." The statement says: "The Graham candidacy gives expression in the house to the progressive Republican sentiment of the rank and file, east and west alike. Mr. Graham comes from an agricultural state of the great middle west, and his candidacy represents the feeling that emphasis needs to be put upon agricultural welfare equally with industrial and commercial welfare. The Graham candidacy is based upon the conviction that the combination of Gillett for speaker and Longworth for floor leader (the organization slate) does not give proper balance to the original lines."

Would Bar "Lame Ducks."

Washington, Nov. 21.—A resolution to stop the appointment of more "lame ducks" to highly remunerative government offices will be introduced when congress meets, according to Senator C. C. Dill. He said that among those back of the resolution the opinion prevails that too many good jobs have been given to the "lame ducks" since the present administration began.

Telephone Chief Dead.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—Eugene A. Reed, 52, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, died at Grant hospital, where he underwent an operation. He was born in Boston in 1871. Charles P. Cooper will assume the duties of president of the company until a successor to Reed is chosen.

Child Instantly Killed.

Uhrichsville, O., Nov. 21.—Maxine McConnell, 6, was almost instantly killed when she ran in front of a taxicab driven by Harry Hayes of Denison. Hayes was exonerated by the coroner.

Five-Cent Fare.

Canton, O., Nov. 21.—Council passed an ordinance repealing the franchise authorizing 6-cent fare on the city lines of the Northern Ohio Traction company line and substituting 5-cent fare after 30 days.

John Davey's organization, The Davey Tree Expert Company, Inc., has a limited number of openings for ambitious young men between 20 and 30 years of age. Single men are preferred.

These positions are permanent and offer a lifetime opportunity to men who make good. The business of the Davey Company approximates one million dollars per year and is limited only by the number of capable men who can be trained for responsible positions.

No experience in Tree Surgery is required. We furnish the necessary training to the right kind of young men. This training is very thorough, embracing intensive work both in the field and later in the class room.

Tree Surgery is intensely interesting. It is professional work of high standing and dignity, and develops a fine scientific knowledge that is invaluable.

It offers robust health—outdoor work in the fresh air and sunshine, with properly balanced exercise. It is the ideal profession for the young man who wants to get away from the grind and monotony of indoor work. It is a wonderful physical developer.

The pay is good at the start and the opportunity for advancement is unusual. There is plenty of room at the top for good men. Work with the Davey Company offers an unusual chance to travel and see many parts of this country, with carfare paid by the company from one place to another.

Only the finest types of clean, red-blooded young Americans are employed by the Davey organization, and only young men of this kind need apply. A high school education or its equivalent is desired. We also require fully satisfactory references as to honesty, dependability and willingness to work.

Arranging Things to Make Home Attractive

Heaven's first law may be met in the placing of the furniture of a room by keeping in mind the simple principle that there must be a dominant note in this just as there is in music. All phases of interior decoration are controlled by this principle. Without its application there is the worst kind of disorder, although we may become so careless with ourselves and so hardened in our sensibilities that we are totally unaware of the jargon we speak every day in our homes.

The piano or the fireplace is usually the dominant note in the furnishing of the living-room. If you have both in a rectangular room the fireplace takes precedence over the piano. If there is an alcove in your room the piano may easily be given the prominence it deserves. With fireplace and piano both in the room it is generally best to place the piano opposite the fireplace if possible. This makes a good balance. In any event both should not be on one side of the room unless it is the inward side. Even there it is not usually quite satisfactory.

The table should be against the wall. It looks well arranged in a group with a picture and a chair. The picture should be of a character that will look well with flowers. This also requires that it be placed high enough to avoid being hidden in part by any decoration that may be placed on the table. By all means have a couch that is comfortable both to sit on and to lie on. It should be so placed that the head receives sufficient light during the day and after sunset for anyone to read without injury to his eyes.

Each easy chair should also be placed with reference to good light, mostly in relation to artificial light, since sufficient evening light is not so apt to be so widespread as is daylight. Although reading-chairs may in many cases be well arranged in relation to wall lights, and to the perfect satisfaction of the reader, nothing is quite so good as a floor or table lamp. The light from such sources is not only usually better, but it may be moved to suit one's convenience, and in addition is very artistic, and therefore gives a very pleasing effect in a room. The easy chair and floor-lamp group is still further increased in convenience if a small table is added to it. Frequently an "end" table is the best.

Youth Is Emphasized in Kiddies' Garments

Just because their years are few in number let no one for a moment suppose that our youngest members of society do not take a very definite stand in the matter of clothes. And she is indeed a clever mother who adroitly manages to dress her small daughter with good taste and appropriateness and apparently gives in to the likes and dislikes of a determined small person of the feminine gender.

Happily the rule of simplicity is the one to follow in choosing children's clothes. But for all their extreme simplicity it is really amazing how very varied and very individual are the modes for the modern child. In the first place there is the matter of color. Every shade that appears in grown-up costumes is also used for diminutive frocks and coats, but even the most intense shades are so cleverly handled that youth is emphasized.

The New Circular Frill.
It would be interesting to know the feminine reaction to the strange circular frill appearing around the bottom of the new skirt. At any rate, it has been eagerly pounced upon by the most extravagant dresses on the screen.

Cannot Oust It.
Nothing can oust the overblouse, which, in many cases, is the making or marring of a three-piece suit. At present the overblouse is beaded, preferably with steel beads.

ESKIMOS HAVE STRANGE LAWS

Hunters Must Divide Their Game With Others—Relative Kills Condemned Man.

Detroit, Mich.—The strange and democratic laws of the Far North where the Eskimos are ruled by a code of ethics all their own and where the hunter cannot claim the game he kills but must share it with his fellows, were discussed recently by Roy J. Snell, the Arctic explorer who is spending two weeks here, addressing Detroit school children.

"The Eskimo had many strange laws before the white man came," Mr. Snell said. "They were communists. If you killed a bearded seal, walrus or polar bear, the meat did not all belong to you. You were obliged, as soon as the killing was accomplished, to stand up and wave your hands while you shouted as loud as you could.

Kill Man With Whale Gun.

"All those who answered your call were entitled to a supply of the meat and it very often happened that the successful hunter got less than some of the others. If you neglected to do this and hid the meat away you were likely to be overtaken with some calamity. You might suddenly become blind, it was thought, or your children might die.

"The Eskimos killed the first white man who had my job; shot him with a whale gun. Three young men did it. One man set the gun in place, another marked a spot on the door, then knocked, and the third pulled the trigger. Since the whale gun is as large as a small cannon, my predecessor was instantly killed.

Relative Must Kill.

"The Eskimos themselves captured two of the young men and executed them. When the United States revenue cutter arrived she sent a shell or two over on the beach to let the Eskimos know what could be done, then told them to go and get the other young man.

"When he was found, it was learned, he too was condemned to die. And just here comes one of the Eskimo's strange customs. If a man must die he must be killed by one of his nearest relatives. A young man by the name of Teragloona was appointed executioner. Teragloona was a cousin of the condemned man and one of his best friends.

"He asked his cousin whether he could prefer to be shot or stabbed. The cousin said shot, so aiming at his temple, Teragloona fired. Talk about an iron nerve; surely Teragloona had it. I afterward came to know him very well, he was one of the finest Eskimos in my village."

Carries Secret of Dye

Formula to Grave

London.—A secret formula for making dye by a method which is said to have required but a fraction of the usual cost has been carried to the grave by a London pauper. The pauper, Robert Culver, learned the secret from a German relative many years ago and brought it to England, where he organized a company for manufacturing dyes.

The company, however, failed through the dishonesty of some of the officials and Culver was reduced to poverty. He continued to live in the hopes that better fortune would one day come his way and that he would be able again to manufacture the dye. He was ill last winter and taken to a workhouse, where he died recently without telling anyone of the secret process.

At the time of the war his German relatives died or were killed and this left him in sole possession of the formula.

Rome, Ga.—Mrs. Lulu Crisler, twenty-four, of Cedar Bluff, Ala., died at a local hospital as the result of an injury sustained when her two-year-old daughter shut a door on her foot.

There was nothing at the time of the accident to attract especial attention to the hurt Mrs. Crisler sustained, which was not especially painful. The place refused to heal, however, and became painful. She was brought here for treatment and it was learned that blood poisoning had set in. The infection had progressed too far at that time for medical science to check it and Mrs. Crisler died after more than a week of intense suffering.

Two Girl Taxicab

Thugs are Arrested

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Two young women, who admitted doing a profitable business luring men into taxicabs operated by male accomplices, after which the dupes were beaten and robbed, were held without bail for further investigation. The two girls, Winnie McLaughlin, twenty-three, and Ruby Morgan, twenty-two, were arrested along with four alleged accomplices who gave their names as James McAndrews, Cleveland; Irwin Cohen, Youngstown; Michael Kelp and Charles Wineberg, both of Pittsburgh.

CHRISTMAS TREE

Everybody Asked to Help Make the Youngsters Happy.

None in the community has forgotten the community Christmas tree of last year. It has left its impress on the community. Already plans are under way for a similar celebration this year and the committee expects that with the hearty cooperation that was found last year it will be possible to continue our Christmas tradition this year. Already various organizations are cooperating, the tree, the lighting the hauling, the decoration all being looked after now. It remains for the others of us in the community to provide the oranges, candy, nuts, dolls, and toys necessary to make every child happy. It will not take a large sum; it will take only good will. The headquarters for receiving these things, especially the toys, have been located at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and at Fickardt's drug store. Look up your toys. If you have some that have served their usefulness to you pass them on to another. If you are not so fortunate as to have a toy in the house go and have the pleasure of getting one for some child that will look forward to this season as the great event of the year. In addition to the two headquarters in the center of town there will be placed in each grocery of the outlying districts of town a Christmas tree jar to receive contributions of whatever size. We want even the children to have a part in making the celebration possible. It is a community affair. Let everyone help make it a success.

VIENNESE ARTIST SWAMPED BY BEAUTIES IN NEW YORK

New York.—Ernest Linnenkamp, Viennese artist, whose quest in this country is the 15 most beautiful women, whose pictures he will paint for the Amalthea Verlag of Zurich and Vienna, said recently that beauty hunting was a nerve-wrecking undertaking.

Herr Linnenkamp has been overwhelmed with applications. To date at least 1,500 women in this city believe they are among America's 15 fairest. Society women, actresses, professional models, shop girls, home girls and waitresses are among those who have sought Herr Linnenkamp out in his New York hotel.

"I have been quite amused," said Herr Linnenkamp. "Many of the lovely creatures who have been in touch with me thought I was here on some advertising scheme or publicity stunt. My quest is perfectly serious. I have a definite job to execute for this Swiss house while I am in this country, and I am not going to put brush to canvas until I am reasonably convinced that my selections are incomparable.

"Up to the moment I have made a preliminary selection of five. Whether these five will 'last the course' I cannot say. I am seeing thirty to forty beauties a day, and it is a delicate task to pick the winners. Comparisons are odious especially when applied to the fairer sex.

"I do not want to announce any names before the fifteen are complete. I am constantly in touch with leading theatrical men, but though I said I thought I would find the majority of my beauties in New York theatrical circles, I am not quite so sanguine now.

"One of the troubles, strange as it may seem, with New York women is that they dress too well. You see a woman in a morning gown. She has then a distinct type of beauty. She changes for lunch. She is a different woman. Her afternoon creation makes her another woman. For evening wear she has another robe, her hair is differently coiffured, and she is again another charming but equally varied personality. How can I choose fifteen of the loveliest under these conditions when nearly every woman has four different appearances daily?"

Frau Linnenkamp, who is considered one of the most beautiful women in central Europe, refuses to assist her husband to make his selections. "He brought all this trouble on himself," she said laughingly. "Let him fight it out himself."

Indian Goddess "Cures Sickness and Disease"

Here is shown the Goddess Kali, supposed to be the most powerful Indian goddess—able to cure sickness and disease. Until stopped by the British government human sacrifices were daily occurrences. For this purpose a special small temple was erected in the outskirts of Madura. In the temple there are figures in the shape of men, women and children, representing the now forbidden sacrifices.

Bandits Take Tombstone Weighing Over Half Ton

Winchester, Va.—The wave of banditry that has had the local police force guessing for the last two weeks seemed to have reached its climax when Funk & Son reported to the police the theft of a large tombstone at their place of business, almost within the shadow of the entrance of Mount Hebron cemetery.

The tombstone had been sold to a customer in Frederick county, and had been handsomely carved and lettered. When employees went to the show-rooms to get the stone it could not be found. The stone weighed more than half a ton.

Lizards Victims of Curiosity.

Little boys of the Orient often capture lizards by entering to their curiosity. When one of them spies a lizard that has scurried into a crevice he makes a slipknot of colored straw and holds it before the hole. After a time he is rewarded by seeing the tiny creature coming out to examine the curious thing before its den and later it actually puts its head into the noose, which is quickly drawn together by the watchful boy.

Fitting a Bear With New Teeth.

A grizzly bear may wear out his teeth, just the same as a human being. When he needs new ones he gets them, particularly in America. More animal dentistry has been done here than in any other country. Once, when an old pet bear belonging to the owner of a well-known menagerie was fitted with a complete set of false teeth, it was necessary to glue the plates to the bear's mouth to keep them in place.

HARTMAN THEATER

"The World's greatest show; Bigger and Brighter than ever," was a slogan adopted and made famous by America's greatest tent showman. It is one that can be truthfully and justly taken over by Wagenhals & Kemper for their production of "The Bat" which they present the week of November 19, at the Hartman theater, Columbus.

"The Bat" has earned the title of the world's greatest show by smashing every known record for a dramatic production on four continents and in seven different countries. It has been played with equal success in eleven languages and has delighted one president, two kings and five queens, along with plenty of other royalty mixed in with 9,000,000 persons who have seen this Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood masterpiece to date, with no signs of the play's popularity diminishing. It is "bigger" than ever because since it played over two years in New York, a year each in London and Chicago and a season each in Boston and Philadelphia, "The Bat" has shattered over 3,000 other records thruout the United states and Canada. It is "better" than ever for Wagenhals & Kemper are sending a special cast for this engagement. The cast coming to the Hartman is the one that will play New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston later this season for return engagement. It is "brighter" for the simple reason that a brand new production has been provided in view of metropolitan return engagements.

The cast includes five of the members of famous special "Big Cities" company with five other augmentations. The old members are Julia Stuart, Ursula Ellsworth, Charles Gott hold, Robert Ranous, Albert Lawrence Harold Heaton and Ben H. Roberts. This is now the most important organization dispensing the laughs, thrills and sensational mystery now made historic in the theater by "The Bat." One of the most astonishing features of the play's record is the popularity of this hit this present season. It seems to be increasing, rather than diminishing as was anticipated by the producers. In several instances "The Bat" has broken its own previous high records this season on return presentations; and in almost every instance has equalled the high marks set the first and second engagements played in various cities. In view of the productions from theatrical wisecracks that a mystery play could not survive a single year, this is even more amazing. "The Bat" has already piled up more profits and royalty than was ever dreamed of for one play prior to its appearance. And now it seems to have only begun an everlasting career. That its merit as an entertainment is unbounded is indicated by the delight with which it is viewed a second or third time. "Repeat" members of the jammed theaters are the most enthusiastic units of the record audiences.

Watch for Eelworm Damage to Alfalfa

Farmers Are Urged to Observe Fields and Eradicate Pest.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Alfalfa growers in America are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to watch their fields of alfalfa for the appearance of "sick spots" which may be caused by the presence of a parasitic eelworm and to take prompt and aggressive measures for eradicating the pest whenever found. The eelworm disease is caused by the alfalfa stem nematode which is proving to be an extremely dangerous pest.

The disease is manifested by a thinning out of the alfalfa in spots in the field, due to the dying of some of the plants. This leaves a poor stand of dwarfed plants, with a reduced number of stems, some of which may be more or less yellowed and distorted. A close examination shows that the disease is localized in the crown of the plant. Stems are swollen at the base and brown in color. They are often brittle and easily broken off; in fact, this brittleness is one of the means of easy diagnosis.

Examining "Sick Spots."

When examining a "sick spot" in a field for the possible presence of the disease, one should take into consideration more than one of the symptoms listed, say department workers. A thin spot may be caused by a variety of other factors, such as a poor initial stand, too little or much water, the presence of alkali in the soil, or to some other disease. The surest symptoms by which the eelworm disease may be recognized are the swollen buds and sprouts and the enlarged browned stems already mentioned. Badly diseased plants show a distinct rotting of the stem bases and crown, with some or all of the stems completely killed.

The disease has not been located in America in a great many places as yet and it has not been under observation for a long enough time to determine just how damaging it might be in this country. But in view of the fact that it causes serious losses in all other countries where it occurs and because it is very readily spread, the department is anxious that all places of infestation be located as soon as possible and methods of eradication put into effect. Specimens of suspected material should be sent in promptly to the department at Washington for identification, together with an account of the extent to which the disease occurs.

Prevent Spread of Disease.

Because the disease is easily spread by irrigation water, infested hay, farm implements, wind, and birds, it follows that the wise practice is to prevent it becoming established. Eradication can be brought about by plowing up the alfalfa fields and putting the land in other crops for three years. A further reason for prompt action against the disease is that it may under favorable conditions pass over to and affect other crops, such as clover, buckwheat, rye, turnips, and even potatoes.

Bran and High Protein Feeds Quite Expensive

Bran and high protein feeds are so relatively expensive that the dairyman who mixes his own ration will do well to make full use of corn, oats and barley, say the feeding specialists at the New York state agricultural college at Ithaca in suggesting a good dairy ration for the fall season.

As reasonable a mixture as can be made, they say, will consist of 500 pounds of corn and oats ground together, 300 pounds of oil meal and 200 pounds of gluten feed.

"If there ever was a time when the value of alfalfa hay shows up it is this fall," say the men at the college who are studying the situation. "Alfalfa in the roughage will make it possible to use 70 per cent of feeds like corn, oats, barley and wheat in the ration."

"Many letters have come in on the feeding of wheat. Wheat is very valuable in feeding. We are not used to it, that is all. It is like corn and should be ground and used like corn. It is practically as valuable, pound for pound, as corn."

"Do not use so much as to make the mixture too sticky when wet. Fifteen per cent is usually the limit, though perhaps 20 may be used."

Suckers on Apple Trees Not Good for Grafting

Suckers on apple trees are not suitable for grafting purposes, as they are not usually well enough matured. Woods for grafting should be well matured; that is, they should have a good deal of food material stored in their growth and in stable forms, and should also be cut when this food is in a dormant condition. The suckers are usually tender wood and inclined to be "sappy." Roots of the proper size may be taken off old trees when in a dormant condition and be used for winter or dormant grafting.

Wilt Disease of Tomato Is Now Serious Menace

The wilt disease of tomato is becoming a serious menace to tomato production. This disease is partially spread by diseased vines. All tomato lines should be burned. Do not plant tomatoes in the same field the following year, since the disease carries over in the soil.

AMUSEMENTS

Greenwich Village! The magic name of Washington Square, America's Quatier Latin, has been the magnet which has attracted many persons to Manhattan, rather than the more general lure of the big city and the White Way. Especially have those with artistic yearnings been drawn like moths to the "yellow lamps" of the Village.

What is probably the most effective picture starring Gloria Swanson—a presentation of life about the Square in "Prodigal Daughters" a Paramount Sam Wood production, which will be the feature at the Met theater for two days beginning today.

It is here that "Swiftie" Forbes, otherwise, Miss Swanson, seeks the realization of the freedom for her sex that she demands and finds harder to exact from her father. With her she takes her sister, Marjory, played by Vera Reynolds, but the latter gets married and thereby quite upsets the conventions of the villagers—or that particular portion of them which regards the marriage tie as a bond indeed.

Her studio is a marvel of realism and picturesqueness. Unique mottoes adorn the walls. There are queer cubistic things, everywhere seems to be grotesquely shaped. The villagers are all young, smocks and corduroys and flowing ties, bobbed hair, of the Simple Simon variety; long haired men and short haired women—predominating.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

STATE LECTURER

Mrs. Mamie Ensign Visited Many Places
in Pickaway County.

Mrs. Mamie T. Ensign, state lecturer for the scientific temperance institution department of the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union has spent the past ten days in visiting most of the schools in this county. Receptions for the teachers were held in her honor in the following places, Derby, Darbyville, New Holland, Circleville and Ashville. Her messages to the schools and the teachers were well received and much good will result from her visit. Mrs. Ensign also gave an address in the United Brethren church in Circleville on Sunday evening.

One phase of the work of this scientific temperance instruction department is the writing of essays on subjects pertaining to alcohol and tobacco which will be made a part of the English work of the schools of the county and the W. C. T. U. will furnish prizes for best essays written on these subjects. The national prize is $20; state prize $10 for high schools; there is also a county prize for high schools. The national prize for college contest is $100; state prize is $40. The essays shall be graded on clearness of thought, accuracy of statement and originality of presentation.

Scientific temperance instruction in the public schools has been one of the important factors in creating the public sentiment that brought national prohibition. Its function now is to continue steadily to build this sentiment in this generation now in the schools which must carry America safely thru to assured permanent prohibition. The children must be taught that alcohol is present in beer, wine and home brew that habit forming drugs are dangerous and that alcohol wherever found is a poison. They must be so taught that they will intelligently choose to be abstainers.

Mrs. Ensign left for her home in Defiance Wednesday afternoon.

While in Circleville she was entertained in the home of Mrs. S. W. Dunlap, on South Court street.

KING'S ESCAPADES CAUSE MUCH TALK

Paris.—Europe is looking for Spain to get rid of its king at any moment, or if not that, it is almost certain that King Alphonso will get a good spanking before long—figuratively speaking. King Alphonso is treading the path once familiar to King Manuel, of Portugal, who showered good coin of the realm on stage beauties, so much of it in fact that his subjects rebelled and Manuel woke up one morning to find himself without a throne to sit on and a crown to put on his head.

That's the way King Alphonso, the Spanish monarch, is going, only he has gone Manuel about five or six better. Instead of having only one stage beauty, Alphonso has about five or six at a time.

Queen With Babies.

Meantime his wife, Queen Victoria, and the six children stay in the royal palace in Madrid wondering when the errant king is coming home.

All Europe is talking about the royal scandal, the way in which Alphonso is behaving himself. The comic papers of France ridicule and roast him. It is in France that Alphonso spends most of his time, at the fashionable seashore resort, Deauville. The reason he spends so much of his time there is because all the noted stage beauties, chorus girls, and a lot of women, whose respectability is not a matter of overmuch concern to them, congregate at Deauville.

Squanders His Money.

There's hardly a good king in the whole European lot any more, but Alphonso is absolutely the worst one they still keep over here. Instead of attending to affairs of state he squanders his coin in gambling parties and drinking bouts at Deauville; he plays tennis with the chorus girls, or rather plays at it; he referees prize fights; he judges beauty contests, and in a word, behaves himself just exactly like a king ought not to behave.

The taxpayers of Spain are beginning to growl about it. When their monarch gives a diamond brooch to one of his favorite stage beauties—the taxpayers of his country foot the bill. Besides they are getting pretty much ashamed of Alphonso.

Rivera May Take a Hand.

When the army of Spain revolted several weeks ago and Primo Rivera, their leader, was given virtual rulership of the country, Alphonso hurried to Madrid from the seashore, saw that Rivera was a good man to have charge of affairs, and then he went back to spend some more of the taxpayers' money.

It is said in Europe that Rivera is soon going to call the king to Madrid for a heart-to-heart talk. Furthermore it is said that by the time Rivera gets through with the king, the king will behave himself—for a few weeks, at least.

High Taxation Sends Art Treasures to U. S.

London.—Art collectors from America have sent more treasures to America since the war than were purchased by Americans during the 20 years previous to 1914.

English collectors explain that this is the result of the need for cash which is being acutely felt in England. Many formerly wealthy art collectors are forced to sell their possessions in order to meet high taxation and living costs. There seems to be no such condition among the American collectors, for their English agents are everywhere and always ready to seize upon any treasures that are for sale. In fact, so anxious are some of the agents to buy that they have adopted the method of calling on well-known collectors and making them offers for various objects.

Art objects to the value of $10,000,000 were shipped to the United States last year.

Man Is Shot to Death in Quarrel Over $4.50

Marshall, N. C.—W. T. Henderson, sixty, a country merchant living at Big Pine, in Madison county, was shot and killed and Kl Baker, forty-five, is being held in jail here on a charge of murder. The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel over $4.50, which Baker claimed Henderson owed him. Baker went to Henderson's home and confronted Henderson. The quarrel ensued and Baker is said to have drawn his pistol, firing four shots at Henderson. One took effect in the head, the others in the body.

"Perfect Apollo" in Class at U. of P.

Philadelphia.—Robert Leslie Pike, of Salisbury, Mass., freshman at the University of Pennsylvania, is a modern "Apollo Belvidere." Pike, who is nineteen years old, six feet, two inches, weighs 194 pounds and has curly blond hair, is the most perfect physical type ever examined at the university, according to Dr. Charles Wharton, assistant physical director.

GERMAN POSTAGE

A letter was received at the local postoffice recently from Germany, which carried 280,000,000 marks. The letter was registered and bore five stamps of the following denominations; one two hundred million, one fifty million and three ten million mark stamps. The whole two hundred and eighty million marks was equivalent to fifteen cents in United States coin. Before the World war the value of a mark was twenty cents in our money. Inflation did it. The land of the kaiser has no credit and no security now.
